Device as a Service

The next step in the digital workplace is a hybrid one, and as your organization identifies its unique balance between working remotely as well as from the office, your employees' technology requirements will likely be just as unique.

Device as a Service for Apple can help you empower your employees by enabling them to use the devices they feel most comfortable with.

Need Less and Save More

The best IT support is one your users rarely need. That's why it helps to let your employees use their preferred devices.

Boost Retention 20%

Forrester's 2019 Total Economic Impact™ Study estimated that companies who implement an employee choice program and enterprise Mac deployment will realize a 20% increase in retention over a 3-year period.
